

THE COURSE OF EMPIRE

Seems To Worry This Gentleman From the Erstwhile Utah Desert.

NATION THREATENED

By This New Movement, Says He, Which Bodes Nothing But Evil In the Future.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Rawlins of Utah addressed the senate today on the expansion question. He commenced by saying that he had not heretofore been opposed to expansion.

While no one could get an artificial barrier to the inevitable progress of the American people he contended that our progress so far had been that of freedom, not of tyranny.

When this country was named it was to be the United States of America. We could stretch out to north and south until we encompassed two continents and all the islands of the Caribbean sea; still we might appropriately bear the name which our fathers gave us.

Rawlins then inquired: "Shall it be the United States of America and Kingdom of the Philippines, or shall it be the Empire of America and Asia? Already there are spectral visions of this in the political sky."

After discussing the question from a constitutional point of view he said: "There is no considerable good which they can bring us. Their retention bodes nothing but evil. They are made the pretext for emasculating our freedom, for overriding our constitution, and breaking down the safeguards of our liberty."

After Rawlins finished his speech today senate went into executive session for further discussion of the treaty.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The house was called to order at noon by Speaker Reed, and immediately went into committee of the whole, with Hopkins (Illinois) in the chair, to consider the river and harbor bill reported by the committee of that name.

Burton (Ohio) made an explanation of the report. The appropriations asked for amounted to over $200,000,000, he said, and the committee had been obliged to cut it down to $30,000,000. This had made the committee's task one of great difficulty.

In authorizing improvements the committee this year had pursued a policy in general to complete work already begun, rather than to provide for new work or advocate piecemeal jobs.

The bill was then debated, Perkins opposing the measure.

During the debate Hepburn viciously attacked the bill. He said that in the civil bill a quarter of a million was appropriated for a channel from Galveston to Texas City, where some Ohio men had built a cotton compress. [This was a quarter of a million more than the value of all Texas City. Ball, of Texas, sharply replied.

A notable feature of the show, which will continue through the week, will be the floral day celebration.

TWO MORE VOTES

EVERYBODY'S FRIEND

A Striking Scene At The Funeral Of Rev. Myron W. Reed.

DENVER, Feb. 1.—Never before in the history of the city has there been such an outpouring of the general public as today on occasion of the funeral of Rev. Myron W. Reed. All the labor organizations and social societies passed eulogistic resolutions and then gathered to do honor to the great preacher.

As an indication of the catholic sentiment prevailing a Jewish rabbi, an Episcopalian minister, a Presbyterian clergyman, and a Roman Catholic priest took active part in the ceremony and delivered addresses.

Broadway Temple was packed to the doors with all kinds and conditions of people. The governor of the state was a pall bearer, and the mayor of the city an usher. High and low, rich and poor, mingled together in deference to Myron Reed, who was everybody's friend.

The splendid display of flowers and the eulogistic speeches were less eloquent than the tear stained faces of the vast congregation.

ANOTHER SENSATION

NEGLECTED HIS DUTY

By Not Reporting These Things, and Secretary Alger Is Intensely Indignant.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—"Never before in the history of our wars has the army been refused fresh beef delivered on the hoof," said Gen. Miles in an interview on the beef scandal.

"Under Sherman, Grant, and Sheridan, cattle were delivered at the front and driven along with the army to be slaughtered from day to day at points where fresh beef was needed for food.

"But the beef sent our soldiers in the Spanish war was loaded and saturated with chemicals, various acids which made them sick, and filled the men's systems with poisons, unfitting them for fighting and campaign work."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The authorized interview with Gen. Miles sent in these dispatches this morning has raised a commotion in the war department, and some action will in all likelihood be taken today.

Secretary Alger, it is said, will ask the president to act at once. It is declared by the war department officials that if what Gen. Miles said is true he is guilty of neglect of duty in not reporting it officially to the secretary of war.

Regulations provide that the general commanding the army shall make a report to the secretary of all matters affecting the service and officers are expressly prohibited from airing such matters in the newspapers.
